Good of the Group Comments, Etc.:

Our Fall Schedule: Fall Farm Day at the Tallahassee Museum on December 11th.

Sam and Linda Miller will be hosting their annual Christmas Open House on Friday, December 10th. This will take the place our December meeting. A map and directions are included in this newsletter.

Sam Miller and David Knowles volunteered to be on the nomination committee.

There was a question on whether the BBMRA would be willing to build a layout to be given away during the holidays. It was decided that there was not enough time this year but would be revisited early next year.

The BBMRA's first model contest, a DPM based structure contest, will be in February 2011. There will be two categories: novice and advanced. The structure can be any scale and judging will start with the following 2 questions: "What did you start with?" and "What did you do to it?" If you are interested, your model can be judged by the NMRA as well.

Program:

Three mini-workshops were provided: Drew Hackmeyer demonstrated and answered questions concerning locomotive maintenance; Larry Benson demonstrated ballasting techniques and Sam Miller painted people.

Next Meeting:

The next gathering of the BBMRA will be at Sam and Linda Miller's annual Christmas Open House on Friday, December 10th. The next official meeting will start at 7:30 pm on Tuesday, January 18, 2011 at the (old) Antique Car Museum meeting room.

The meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m. Respectfully submitted, Lyn Heath, Secretary (taken by Drew Hackmeyer)

Christmas Trains Are Delightful - By Larry Benson

If you want to watch your children's or grandchildren's eyes twinkle brighter than the lights on your Christmas tree, then spend a few bucks and buy a delightful Christmas Train set this year. Now, come on "Scrooge", we all know most if not all of these trains are molded plastic and probably won't last much beyond one or two holidays. But, just watching the expressions on our youngster's faces is certainly worth the cost.

And while we're speaking of cost, Christmas train sets run around $29 to $49 and prices vary depending on the design of the train and the store where you buy it. These sets also come in different scales, but most of them I have seen are large scale, either "O" or "G" scale and usually are battery powered.

The vast majority of the trains are made to run on the floor around the base of Christmas trees, however, not all are floor models. A few years back, our neighbor gave us a "Tree Train" as a Christmas gift. He knows I am a "rail nut", so he figured Shirley and I would enjoy his gift, and we have. Tree trains are designed to run in the branches of artificial trees although they may also be mounted in natural trees. The track is held in place by arms attached to the center trunk and which extend outward to the tips of the limbs. Precarious? Yes, we only put our train up inside the tree branches for one year. It looked like it was going to topple onto the floor every time it made a circle because the track sagged when the weight of the train crossed the span between branches. But, they are still a lot of fun!

And, by the way, adults will be pleasantly surprised as well as delighted to see that you have upheld an age-old tradition of running a Christmas Tree Train. Merry Christmas!
